

Hawaii (HI)

Disclaimer Statement

Hawaii is a unique state in that there is a complicated process for an agency to be granted access to the state systems in Honolulu and there are not many agencies in Hawaii. The setup and configuration of the state systems provides some limitations as well. The legacy nature of these systems and the level of access an agency is granted will affect how and what we are able to access. No two interfaces are alike. Therefore, we must treat Hawaii like a custom solution and ask that if you have an opportunity in Hawaii, you call us for a quote and to assist you with the requirements. We have completed interfaces in Honolulu and Maui. CommSys should be able to shield you from most of these differences, but to us, it means extra work and also not as big of an audience to “resell” the interface to so our costs will most likely be higher and the hardware requirements for the server greater.

Hawaii integration is possible and we are willing to work with you to achieve such. Please contact us if and when you need further information.
